

Interviewees mentioned in the article:

- Former chief prosecutor, Taipei, 25 October 2014
- Former legislator, Taipei, 25 October 2014
- Associate of Chen Ding-nan, Taipei, 25 October 2014
- Former Minister of Justice Shih Mao-lin, Taichung, 29 October 2014
- Prison guard in group interview, Taipei, 29 October 2014.
- Former Minister of Justice Liao Cheng-hao, Taipei, 30 October 2014
- Former DPP spokesperson Huang Di-Ying, Taipei, 1 November 2014
- Former Minister of Justice Shih Mao-lin, Taichung, 3 November 2014
- Participant in student democratization movement, Taipei, 4 November 2014
- Former investigator in the Black Gold Investigation Center, Taipei, 6 November 2014
- MJIB section chief in the anti-corruption division, Taipei, 8 November 2014

Notes:

- I conducted two interviews with former Minister Shih Mao-lin, one on October 29, another on November 3.
- I also spoke to a Vice Minister of Justice in the present administration, the head of the Agency Against Corruption and a number of other people involved in Taiwan’s justice system. Since I did not use all of the interviews I conducted in the present article, I did not mention these persons.